

By prohibiting XM radio from broadcasting local info/weather/etc you are not only violating their 1st amendment rights you are telling us (consumers that elected you to your current position) what we are allowed to pay for and what we aren't. By prohibiting these broadcasts you further restrict competition of the radio market. The people that suffer the most from these restrictions are the consumers. So give us a break. Surely, there are more pressing issues for you to address. Let the consumer decide who they want to receive their info from and let the economics of competition do the rest.
